

Adding Opportunity to Your Bottom Line

VoIP and IP Video solutions are challenging data networks today. ScanSource Services Group has several offers to effectively plan, test and evaluate your customer’s data network for real-time application readiness.

- Experience On-Time Implementations
- Reduce Project Overruns
- Reduce Post-Production Troubleshooting
- Maximize Customer Satisfaction

Our Readiness Assessment Offer

We are VoIP and IP Video experts. We offer the most cost effective options to fit your needs and your budget. You’ll profit and gain valuable insight for today’s deployment and future real-time applications.

Our Process

Our unique process defers from a standard data network assessment. We create a mirror of your hardware/software design to give you a true test of what’s to come when you implement your solution. And, there’s no disruption in your customers day-to-day operation. Our IP engineers work directly with you and your end user to initiate the necessary steps to begin the testing. The final report provides the metrics test results and recommendations for next steps.

Give your customers peace of mind with real-time evaluations that clearly establish network readiness before project deployment.
